WC Ranch Brahman females are some of the most useful in the breed today. Because of our rigid standards of selection and performance, we feel that WC females can be an asset to the most critical crossbreed-

WC females are rapidly gaining recognition for their outstanding mothering and milking ability which in turn enables them to raise very growthy and aggressive

WC Ranch is now offering quality groups of red, redspeckled, and black and white speckled females and herd bull prospects from the most prominent bloodlines in the U.S. and Mexico today. These females have been grouped according to conformation, age, color and performance and each has met the WC Ranch's "Standard of Excellence." If you are in the market for outstanding young semales (individuals or group), or rugged and aggressive young herd sires, we invite you to contact WC Ranch and make plans to see these outstanding cattle for yourself.
